Request a Textbook for the Library Reserves Collection

If there is an item you would like the Library to purchase and place on reserve for a class you are teaching, please click on the button above and fill out the form.

Based on our survey of students using the reserve collection from Fall 2015, about 70% of students used the Library's reserves because of financial difficulty and 50% responded that they would not be able to take the course they were in if there were no textbooks for it available in the Library.

While we try to honor all requests, the Library has limited funding for buying textbooks and other reserve items, so we cannot purchase everything. If you have an extra copy of the item, please consider loaning it to the Library.

How to Create an In-Text MLA Citation

See more videos on the Library's YouTube page.

In Text MLA Citations

Two to Three Authors

Example: all the authors last names.

Example: Skloot, one reason the HeLa cells were uniquely useful for genetic research was that they were not limited by space and time. The cells were working out of culture medium (Levin and Dubner 204).

Politics and Government Information Guide

The Democratic and Republican caucuses are in full swing! Learn more about political issues, government, and how to get involved with local politics by checking out our new Government Information Guide created by Librarian Cynthia McCarthy.

From Calafada College to Congress: Ann Eshoo

Anna Eshoo, Calafada College, class of '75, now represents the area where she lives and attended college. The only member of Congress of Assyrian descent and one of only two members in Congress of Armenian descent (the other is Congressional Representative Jackie Speier), Ms. Eshoo earned an associate of arts in English from Calafada College within a decade of the college's official opening. Congresswoman Eshoo serves on the Energy and Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Communications and Technology, the first woman in the history of the subcommittee to serve in a leadership role. Congresswoman Eshoo also works to expand high-speed, affordable broadband, protect electronic privacy as well as an open Internet and to ensure net neutrality protections. She also serves as a co-chair of the Congressional Internet Caucus. Read more about Congresswoman Eshoo and her political career here. Sign up for email updates from Congresswoman Eshoo and see her Recommended Reading list here or visit her Palo Alto office at 688 Emerson St.

Spent? Inspired? Call or email your elected officials

Who represents you in government? What do they vote on? Find out who to contact here in the federal level in the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives and the state level in the California assembly and state senate.

Congressional representatives serve two-year terms. Senators serve six-year terms. To find current congressional representatives and senators by state, check this Library of Congress website.

Who decided to close the dog park on Sundays? Attend a city council or county board of supervisors' meeting to find out.

Whether a dog park is open on Sundays is one of the many decisions local government officials make that affect your neighborhood. Attend a city council or planning commission meeting to hear the discussions behind each decision with an outcome you can see. County boards of supervisors and city councils usually meet twice a month on the same day of the week, such as the second and fourth Thursdays, or first and third Tuesdays. You can receive city council agendas and meeting notices by email and can often watch meetings online or on YouTube. Follow the links below to sign up.

Want to work in D.C.? Apply for a government internship
