

“The Humanities and Social Sciences division completed the program review resource request prioritization process February 2, 2024, at a regular division meeting. The division considered 2 instructional non-personnel resource requests submitted by English as a Second Language (ESL) and Theatre Arts as part of their comprehensive Fall 2023 program reviews. Both articulated their program’s adherence to the college mission, vision, and values.

Division faculty discussed the requests, considering the type of request and program goals, alignment to mission, vision, and values, and in answer to the two critical questions—How does this resource request support closing the equity gap? and How does this resource request support Latinx and AANAPISI students? Additionally, the division confirmed the non-personnel resources requested support individual program goals and our college’s HSI and AANAPISI focus, namely College Goal #2 (Equity Minded and Antiracist College Culture). Both improve program technology resources, increasing student access in learning environments and by directly supporting student engagement and learning in course curriculum (College Goal #4, Accessible Infrastructure and Innovation).

The Humanities and Social Sciences division’s non-personnel resource request prioritization for the 2023-2024 academic year is complete.”
